Subject: SAPs for May 2012 Dimock Sampling

Attached are what I consider our final SAPs for the upcoming sampling next week. Techlaw will submit (or have already submitted) these through the standard lab procurement process, however, I wanted to make sure we all were working off the correct plans. I will post these to the OSC web page (marked private for now) so others who need to may gain access to them. I will make them public access some time next week when our messaging catches up.
